EU 2020 targets

PES as fundamental players

- 75% of Europeans in employment – with current 71,1% a big challenge
- fewer than 10% of school-aged children leaving school early and without diploma – good prospects with reduction from 14,8% in 2010 to 11,7% in 2015
- at least 40% of 30 to 34 year-olds receiving a higher education diploma – on the right path with continuous growth to 38,7%

Conclusions

- Ultimate aim is the added value for citizens
- Benchlearning drives continuous improvement by collegial advice and learning
- Investment into the organisational maturity of a PES pays off
- Huge learning potential for PES` challenges in 2017, e.g.: Integration of refugees, LTU, use of Big Data, exploiting partnerships etc.
- Benchlearning – a mindset, not an event
- Benchlearning is applicable for other policy areas and issues

Collaboration – a Success itself
